

People Magazine Exclusive: Sandra Bullock

People Magazine once again secures an exclusive in their new issue. This time it is Sandra Bullock's adoption of a 3½-month-old boy, named Louis Bardo Bullock. Certainly, this is not PEOPLE's first time to get an exclusive. But what made this issue remarkable is that it topped most searches as authors have strategically mentioned "People Magazine" all throughout the article discussing the adoption.

Bullock disclosed to People Magazine the adoption process that has started four years ago. Louis, who was born in New Orleans, was brought home in January. Bullock, along with close friends and family, kept this news a secret until the recent interview she had with PEOPLE.

The new issue also includes Bullock opening up with PEOPLE her breakup with husband Jesse James, who was reported of infidelity. She shared the mix of emotions she had felt when she had to make the decision.

A lot has been going on in the life of Sandra Bullock this year which started off with winning her first Oscar; then maintaining fortitude at the end of her marriage; and encompassing both joys and trials is the gift of being a mother to her new baby. And People Magazine was able to capture all these.
