

I do freelance writing about general topic such as health, beauty, family, relationships, how-to-articles, insurance and other similar topics. Can do rewrites, editing and proofreading of articles. With basic knowledge of SEO, keywords, links and understanding of copyscape. No plagiarism of work. Have more than three years of writing experience and did writing projects for clients based in the US, Canada and Australia. All rights belong to the clients and all my articles are published online. Very good in oral and written English .Open to full time and part time work. Open to further training to further enhance writing skills.

College graduate, BS Management 1999, University of the Philippines Diliman, QC
Work experiences include HR and Training jobs with a manufacturing company, insurance company and a law firm with international affiliations.
Did part time teaching and tutorial jobs
Did sales, customer service/frontline jobs for advertising companies

Single, independent and in good physical health
With a positive and happy disposition about life

Currently a freelance article writer of general topics such as health, beauty, insurance, pets, how-to-articles and other similar subjects. Have professional writing experience of more than three years. Did writing projects for clients based in the US, Canada and Australia. The clients own the rights to my articles and these are published online. Did a one time project of ghost writing for a client. Handled re-writing projects and writing product reviews.

Basic understanding of SEO, keywords, links, word density and copyscape. No plagiarism of work.

I am a self-starter, a dependable and a motivated worker who has professional work ethics. I am hardworking and I follow instructions correctly. I submit work on time with no corrections or editing by my employers.

I may need further training on some aspects of computer operations and training on some writing tools, which I am willing to learn.

Basically, I can honestly say that I am good at this job. I love writing and I guess I would be doing this for a long time. My articles are written to inform, educate, inspire and to entertain the readers. I have contributed articles on some free writing sites and I have a blog where I have written three blogs for some clients.

I am open to part time or full time work. It would be a wonderful opportunity to write for you.